KORET FOUNDATION GIFT

AT FORT MASON
CAPITAL CAMPAIGN

The At-Fort-Mason Capital Campaign is a $7.5 million fund-raising effort to complete ten major renovations projects within the historic Piers and Landmark Buildings of Fort Mason Center. To date, over $4 million has been raised.

With a recent pledge of $400,000 from the Koret Foundation of San Francisco, the Fort Mason Capital Campaign has now surpassed its first-phase fundraising goal of $4 million. The Koret leadership gift will support a special two-year Youth Employment Program to be operated by Fort Mason in cooperation with the San Francisco Conservation Corps (SFCC). Portions of the renovations projects will be used as a work setting to train local youth in the construction trades.

"We are excited about this program," said Thaddeus Taube, President of the Koret Foundation Board of Directors. "We see the Fort Mason/SFCC Program as a highlight of Koret's involvement in providing assistance to young people."

The Youth Employment Program began this summer, as renovation of Piers 2 and 3 continues. Participants in the project, aged 18 to 23, needing a start in preparation for life in the real world, will get on-the-job training in marketable skills such as painting, glazing and carpentry. They will be paid wages, keep a journal, and pursue courses toward high school graduation.

The goal of the program is to give young people intensive training in the construction trades, and in other life skills, to prepare them for other employment and to instill in them a measure of civic pride through their work on a community center. It is also designed to show what may be accomplished through the joining together of Fort Mason, a highly visible cultural center, and the SFCC, an established training program for youth, in a large-scale, long-term project.

Sanford Lowengart, President of the Board of Directors of Fort Mason Foundation and a member of the Campaign Committee, sees this as an excellent example of partnership. "Fort Mason and SFCC are delighted to be working together with the support of the Koret Foundation. This will be a model program with benefits for the community and for the young people," he said.

Marc Kasky, Executive Director of Fort Mason Center, and Robert Burkhardt, Director of SFCC, worked together on the design of the Youth Employment Program. They both point to the Koret Foundation as the leader in supporting the concept of involving youth in the Capital Campaign.

Mel Mogulof, Koret's Chief Executive Officer, said, "The Koret Foundation has been very concerned with developing alternatives for 'at-risk' youth in San Francisco. This program is exactly what we were looking for in an alternative that would positively affect the community and give young people the skills necessary to become independent, self-sufficient members of that community."

Koret Program Officer Dianne Yamashiro-Omi said, "In the long run, we see the potential for this project to serve as a model that may spark an expanded program in other parts of the City."

MORE FIREWORKS!

You may think you've seen enough fireworks for the year, after the celebrations for the Bay Bridge and the Golden Gate Bridge. But the annual July 4th party at Crissy Field, sponsored by the San Francisco Chronicle and the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, is a memorable community event, and a tradition for many Bay Area families.

The festivities begin with the Opening Procession at 2pm, featuring the U.S. Army Band and the National Park Service Mounted Police, followed by a 50-cannon salute to the nation by the U.S. Army Military Police.

The comedy group Culture Clash performs at the annual 4th of July Celebration.

Continuous free entertainment begins at 3pm. On the Main Stage are top performers including the Royal Society Jazz Orchestra, the Good Ol' Persons, California Cowboys, rap artist Dominique DiPrima, and comedy from Culture Clash. The Children's Stage presents games for kids as well as performances by juggler Ray Jason and the Walden Marionettes, among others.

A wide variety of foods and beverages can be purchased at the many concession stands between the two stages. Finally, around 9pm, or just after dark, the magnificent fireworks display begins.

Although the public is encouraged to use MUNI, there will be free parking at The Presidio. For more information, and a schedule of events, call 556-0560.

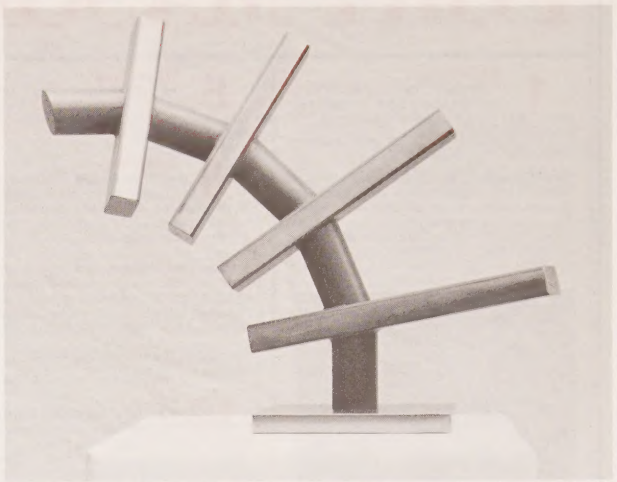
FMC UPDATE—EXHIBITS



7/5-8/30 "Exhaustion" by John de Marchi at Museo ItaloAmericano. Photo: John A. de Marchi

SF Craft & Folk Art Museum presents "Bay Currents: Clay and Glass," an invitational show, in conjunction with the Non-Profit Gallery Association. The exhibition showcases the work of between 100 and 200 Bay Area artists who have been working in their respective media for at least three years and who are not represented by commercial galleries. The show is intended to present the work of emerging local artists in depth, and to acquaint the viewing public with the educational and cultural role of the NPGA member institutions. "Bay Currents" gives the viewer a chance to see, in one exhibition, the works of a number of local artists. Clay and glass, although among the oldest materials, are being shaped and colored as never before, and Bay Area artists have led the way. This exhibition is an exciting presentation of the new directions being taken in these media. The exhibition runs from June 25 through August 23. Museum hours are Wednesday through Sunday, Noon to 5pm. For information, call 775-0990.

The Walden Marionettes perform at the annual 4th of July Celebration.

Museo ItaloAmericano presents "Emerging Artists Show," a group show featuring the works of Italian-American artists. This annual show offers many artists their first opportunity of museum exhibition. Included are painting, sculpture, and photography, by Ken Botto, Kharlene Boxenbaum, Fernanda D'Agostino, Pat De Caro, John De Marchi, John Dingler, Gregory Gioiosa, Gianfranco Paolozzi, and Andrea Ponsi. The show opens July 5, and runs through August 30. Museum hours are Wednesday through Sunday, Noon to 5pm. For information, call 673-2200.

SF Museum of Modern Art Rental Gallery presents a special exhibition called "Introductions 87," featuring sculpture by Tim Cooper and Melinda Johnson, and mixed media by Dan McCarthy. The show runs from July 7 through 31. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 11:30am to 5:30pm. For information, call 441-4777.

Other galleries at Fort Mason include The Mexican Museum, featuring a celebration of Frida Kahlo's art in a comprehensive major exhibition, through August 2 (call 441-0404); Perception Gallery, featuring recent work by Ann O'Shea from June 30 through July 19, and an All Members' Multimedia Show from July 21 through August 16 (call 776-0347); and the African American Historical and Cultural Society, featuring a permanent collection of art and archives, and special exhibitions (call 441-0640).
